Projects

CAPM Calculator
[Github]
May 2019 to May 2019

this app calculates the expected return on equity of S&P 500 companies using a linear regression going back the amount of months you would like.

- Utilized the AlphaVantage and Quandl API to get historical market and stock data
- Ran a linear regression using Python to find the correlation between the stock and the market
- Used Django to create an endpoint to get the data
- Deployed Django app to Heroku

Labs 10 Lodgel
[Github]
Feb. 2019 to Mar. 2019

Lodgel is a POS application that allows property managers to interact with their cleaners and guest. Lodgel allows property managers to create surveys and allows guest to see progress on the cleaning status of the house they are staying at.

- Used Git version control to work in a four person group to add additional functionality to an existing project
- Added the ability to create surveys and send them to the guest
- Implemented a guest dashboard to allow the guest to get directions, surveys, and cleaning status of the house they are staying at
- Created the ability to fill out a survey on the guest dashboard, and make that response viewable to the project manager
